The Rules will serve to govern the conduct of debate, voting, and document processing within the committee.

In the enforcement of the Rules of Procedure, the Chair can interpret and implement these rules as they see fit to ensure proceedings run smoothly and debate is active.

The topics for each committee within the Nagoya University Model United Nations 2026 are as follows:

UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL: Addressing political unrest in South Sudan: Crisis Committee

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL: Creating an International Liability Regime for Accidents Involving Autonomous Weapons Systems and AI-Enabled Military Platforms

1 GENERAL RULES

2. OFFICERS AND DUTIES

Each committee shall have a Chair, Co-Chairs, and a member of Academics. The Chair presides over sessions, maintains order, and ensures fair and impartial debate. The Co-Chairs assist the Chair and may assume duties in their absence. The members of Academics will act as a bridge between the committee and the organizers. The Chairs and Co-Chairs for each committee are as follows:

Committee	Officers
United Nations Security Council (Advanced)	Teguh Ganesha Takumi Oishi Dhinuthri Senanayake
Economic and Social Council (Intermediate)	Ananya Katyal Anh Nguyen Ahmed Mahadi Hasan

United Nations Human Rights Council	Aisha Kako Nagisa Mitsui Tomoaki Tsubota
United Nations Environmental Programme	Yuki Terashima Serina Saito

I GENERAL RULES

3. QUORUM

A quorum is required to open any debate or conduct voting. The quorum shall consist of one-third of the total members of the committee. A majority of members must be present to vote on any and all substantive matters.

II CONDUCT

4. LANGUAGE OF DEBATE

The Nagoya University Model United Nations will be conducted in two languages: English and Japanese. Three committees shall be executed entirely in English, while two are in Japanese. Within the committee session and during caucuses, all members of the committee must converse and conduct themselves in the language designated for their committee. Delegates and Chairs alike may socialize as they see fit in any language during breaks.

The delegation of languages for each committee is as follows:

English Committees	Japanese Committees
United Nations Security Council United Nations Economic and Social Council World Health Organisation	United Nations Human Rights Council United Nations Environmental Programme

II CONDUCT

5. CREDENTIALS

Credentials of all delegates shall be accepted upon approval by the organizers prior to the start of the conference. Any questions regarding credentials or eligibility of any delegate or chair shall be submitted in writing to the Head of Academics; no delegate may challenge another delegate's credentials during debate.

6. COURTESY

Delegates are expected to show the highest level of decorum and diplomatic conduct at all times. The Chair holds the right to call any delegate to order who fails to observe these standards.

7. CHAIR AUTHORITY

The decisions of the Chair are final unless successfully appealed to the Head of Academics. The Chair and Co-Chairs hold joint authority to execute proceedings within the committee. The Chair holds the final decision on any points of contention regarding procedural matters.

8. AGENDA

Through the chairs, a provisional agenda will be provided prior to the start of the conference. The committee shall set the agenda by a simple majority vote after the opening of the committee session.

Debates will proceed on one topic at a time, in the order determined by the committee and at the discretion of the Chair.

9. ATTENDANCE AND ROLL CALL

At the beginning of each session, the Chair will conduct a roll call. Delegates must respond "Present" or "Present and Voting." "Present and Voting" delegates may not abstain on substantive votes. Repeated absences may result in loss of voting rights or eligibility for awards.

II CONDUCT

10. DECORUM AND DRESS

Delegates are required to wear Western business formal attire. The Chair may bar any delegate from entering the committee if they fail to meet the dress code. Professionalism must be maintained throughout the conference.

11. OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS

All working papers, draft resolutions, and amendments must be submitted to the Chair for approval prior to distribution. The Chair may withhold documents that are incomplete, redundant, or violate format standards.

12. OBSERVERS

Observers may participate in the debate at the Chair's discretion but may not vote on substantive matters.

13. TECHNOLOGY AND ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Technology usage shall be allowed and encouraged throughout the conference, unless otherwise specified by the Chair. The Chair has the discretion to determine the relevance and level of disruption created by technology use throughout the conference and may call delegates to order.

Generative artificial intelligence (AI) may not be used for writing speeches, position papers, or Points. It also may not be used for writing any substantive documents, such as working papers, draft resolutions, or amendments, within the committee. The Chair has discretion to penalize any delegate caught using AI in these capacities.

III DEBATE

14. SPEECHES

The Chair shall maintain a General Speakers list for the topic under discussion. Delegates may add themselves to the List by raising their placard when recognized, with the default speaking time at 60 seconds unless changed by motion.

15. YIELDS

A speaker may yield the time to another delegate who may not yield further, to questions, or to the Chair. The debate continues until the Speakers List is exhausted, or a motion to close or suspend debate is passed.

16. RELEVANCE OF DEBATE

All remarks must remain relevant to the topic under discussion. The Chair may call delegates to order for straying off topic.

17. CLOSURE OF THE SPEAKER'S LIST

A delegate may move to close the Speaker's List to prevent new names from being added. Debate continues until all speakers on the list have spoken, unless debate is closed by motion.

18. REOPENING THE SPEAKER'S LIST

A delegate may move to reopen the Speaker's List after closure to allow additional speakers. This requires a second and a simple majority vote.

III DEBATE

19. POINTS

Delegates may rise to the following points at appropriate times:

Point	Circumstance
Point of Personal Privilege	Used when personal comfort or audibility affects participation (e.g., climate of the committee room, audibility of technology). This may interrupt a speaker only for occasions involving audibility. The Chair rules immediately on the validity of the point; no vote is needed.
Point of Order	Raised to correct a procedural error made by the Chair or a delegate. This cannot interrupt a speaker. The Chair rules immediately on the validity of the point; no vote is needed.
Point of Parliamentary Inquiry	Used to ask the Chair about rules, procedure, or motions that are potentially in order. This cannot interrupt a speaker. The Chair rules immediately on the validity of the point; no vote is needed.
Point of Information	Asked only if a speaker yields to questions. These points must be exclusively directed at policy or content, not personal matters among delegates. The Chair moderates the exchange and holds discretion to penalize ad hominem statements.
Right of Reply	Requested in writing when a delegate's country or person is insulted. The Chair may grant a brief verbal response. Abuse of the Right of Reply may lead to denial, and the Chair reserves the discretion to determine the relevance of the Right of Reply. Chairs may directly inquire whether delegates wish to take a Right of Reply after a comment has been made. The delegate may then respond after the speaker has finished.

III DEBATE

20. MOTIONS

IV CAUCUSES

22. MODERATED CAUCUS

A Moderated Caucus suspends the Speaker's List for short, timed speeches under Chair moderation on a specific subtopic.

The motion must include the purpose (topic of discussion), total duration, and peaking time per delegate.

It requires a second and a simple majority vote. The Chair may select speakers at their discretion. There are no yields in a moderated caucus.

23. UNMODERATED CAUCUS

An Unmoderated Caucus suspends formal debate to allow informal discussion, collaboration, and drafting.

The motion must specify the purpose and total duration, and requires a second and a simple majority. The Chair may end the Unmoderated Caucus early if disorder occurs.

24. EXTENSION OF A CAUCUS

A caucus may be extended through a Motion to Extend the Caucus, specifying additional time. Requires a second and a simple majority.

● V WORKING PAPERS, RESOLUTIONS

25. WORKING PAPERS

Working papers are informal documents that help structure discussion but have no official status. They do not require signatories or formal approval before circulation, but they must be reviewed by the Dais for format and appropriateness.

26. DRAFT RESOLUTIONS

A draft resolution becomes official upon approval by the Dais and sponsorship by a minimum number of delegations, as set by the Chair. Draft resolutions must address the topic under debate, and once introduced, they may be debated and amended as per committee rules.

27. AMENDMENTS

Amendments are formal changes proposed to a draft resolution. An amendment may be made by any delegate in the committee, and it is up to the resolution sponsors' discretion as to whether or not the amendment will pass. The two types of amendments are as follows:

Friendly Amendments:	Unfriendly Amendments:
Changes that are agreed upon by all sponsors of the draft resolution before voting. These are automatically adopted without debate or vote once verified by the Dais.	The changes the amendment proposes are not agreed upon by all sponsors.

Amendments require prior approval by the Chair to ensure proper formatting and relevance.

Once approved by the Chair, the amendment is introduced to the floor and debated under the same speaking time as regular debate. A Motion to Move into Voting Procedure on Amendments may then be raised. For an amendment to pass, it requires a simple majority vote. Amendments must be submitted in writing to the Chair before introduction and may not contradict the core purpose of the draft resolution.

● V WORKING PAPERS, RESOLUTIONS

28. MERGING AND WITHDRAWAL

Sponsors may merge draft resolutions with others before voting begins. A sponsor may withdraw sponsorship by notifying the Dais in writing.

● VI VOTING

29. VOTING BLOC

Once the committee enters Voting Bloc, doors are closed and no delegate may enter or exit. Only motions directly related to voting are in order. Delegates must remain silent.

30. VOTING RIGHTS

Each member state has one vote. Observers may not vote on substantive matters. Delegates marked “Present and Voting” must vote “Yes” or “No” without abstaining.

31. CONDUCT DURING VOTING

Delegates may not communicate, pass notes, or leave their seats. Any violations may result in annulment of the delegate’s vote.

32. ROLL CALL VOTES

In a roll call vote, delegations respond in alphabetical order: “Yes,” “No,” “Abstain,” or “Pass.” Those who pass must vote definitively when recalled.

33. MOTIONS DURING VOTING BLOC

Only procedural motions related to the order of voting (e.g., Motion to Divide the Question) are in order during Voting Bloc.

VI VOTING

34. MAJORITY REQUIREMENTS

A simple majority dictates that there must be more votes in favor than against. For two-thirds majority, two-thirds of the committee must be in favor of the resolution to pass. Abstentions are not counted in determining a majority.

35. ABSTENTIONS AND PASSES

Delegates may abstain from substantive votes. During roll-call votes, a delegate may initially pass and must later vote “Yes,” “No,” or “Abstain” when the roll returns to them.

36. DIVISION OF THE QUESTION

A delegate may move to divide a draft resolution into parts to be voted on separately. If the motion passes, the committee votes on each part individually before final adoption.

37. RECONSIDERATION OF THE VOTE

A motion to reconsider a resolution or amendment may only be made by a delegate who voted in favor of it, requires a two-thirds majority, and may only occur once per topic.

● VII SPECIAL RULES

38. Suspension of Rules

Any rule of procedure may be suspended by a two-thirds majority to facilitate committee work, provided it does not violate the UNA-USA Charter or the Head of Academics' directives.

39. Right of Reply

A delegate who feels personally or nationally insulted by another delegate's statement may request a Right of Reply. This must be submitted in writing and is granted at the Chair's discretion. Verbal replies are limited to 30 seconds.

40. Appeal of the Chair's Decision

A delegate may appeal a procedural decision of the Chair. The appeal is put to an immediate vote. A two-thirds majority against the appeal sustains the Chair's ruling.

● VIII CLOSURE OF DEBATE

41. Closure of Debate

When debate on a topic has concluded, a delegate may move to close the debate. If the motion passes by a two-thirds majority, the committee proceeds directly to voting on all draft resolutions and amendments.

42. Adjournment of Session

Adjournment signifies the end of all committee business. It requires a simple majority vote and is typically the final act of the committee.

When writing the draft resolution, preambulatory phrases are used to establish the context and background of the issue, citing past UN actions, relevant treaties, or the general reasons why the committee is taking action. Preambulatory clauses begin with verbs in the present participle form (ending in “-ing”) or an adjective. These phrases are usually italicised for emphasis.

Operative clauses form the core of the resolution. They are used to outline the specific actions, policies, and solutions the committee recommends to solve the issue. These clauses are numbered, end with a semicolon (except for the final clause, which ends in a period), and begin with an action verb in the third-person singular present tense. These starting verbs are usually underlined for emphasis.

AMENDMENTS

Purpose

→ Making changes to the flaws of the draft resolution that has already been approved and has been motioned to be introduced to the floor

- Should not be made for the sake of having another paper with your delegation's name on it
- Only substantive and constructive information!
- No attempting to change the resolution too much, such that the original intent is compromised

Type

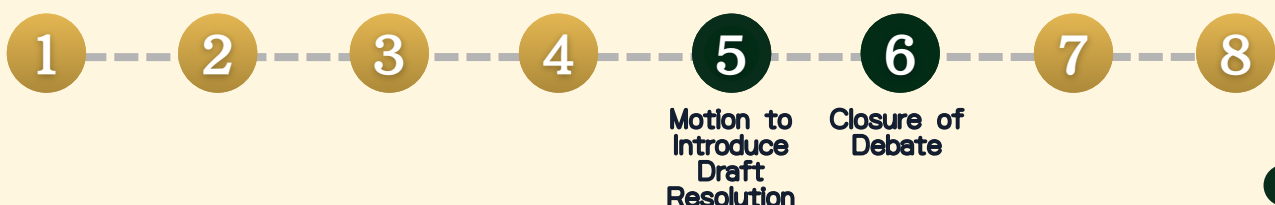

1 Non-substantial Amendments

→ Amending mistakes regarding grammar and spelling to both preambulatory and operative clauses.

2 Friendly Amendments → for OPERATIVE CLAUSES

→ “The delegate of ____ would like to raise a motion to introduce an amendment to clause ____.”

→ ALL sponsors of draft resolution need to show approval for the amendment to be friendly and be incorporated; if not, proceed with the procedure for unfriendly amendments.

Type (cont.)

- 3 Unfriendly Amendments → for OPERATIVE CLAUSES
- “The delegate of ____ would like to raise a motion to introduce an unfriendly amendment to clause ____.”
 - Motion passes, and Secondary Speakers’ List is established for debates to begin
 - “The delegate of ____ would like to raise a motion for closure of the debate.”
 - Motion passes, and the floor proceeds to voting on the amendment.
 - Must acquire support from $> 1/8$ of all delegates in order to be valid for submission.
 - If passes, the amendment will be incorporated into the draft resolution being amended.

VOTING ON THE RESOLUTION

- A resolution will pass if the number “for” exceeds the number “against,” regardless of the number of abstentions.
 - A resolution or an amendment with a tied vote fails.
 - No informal voting will be entertained; all voting will stand as a ruling.
- No points, motions, or note-passing during voting procedures, unless related to the actual voting process or point of personal privilege!
- Delegations voting on procedural motions, such as a motion to extend debate time, may only vote “for” or “against”
